Dear Parishioners,

1. Just Look at Him

In the First Reading, the Israelite people are disheartened by the lack of food and water, and they complain bitterly against Moses and God.

You might think that you can understand why anybody walking in the desert would be discouraged. But then you would have forgotten half the story. These Israelites have had miracle after miracle to sustain them. In the preceding story, God makes a rock gush out water sufficient for all of them and their cattle. Earlier, when they were hungry, God gave them manna to eat.

So what is actually hard to understand is why they don't trust God, given all that they have seen God do for them.

But they don't. And so, as a second-best aid to getting them to trust God, God punishes them by afflicting them with snakes and snake-bites. But he sends the remedy for snakebites too. In order to be saved from the toxic snake venom, all that a bitten person has to do is look at the bronze image of a snake which Moses has put high on a pole. Why would God choose this as the remedy?

Well, anybody who is willing to look at that bronze snake fixed on a pole has to recognize what ails him, not only the snakebite but also the rebellion against God. But then he also has to recognize that he was wrong in not trusting God's goodness in the desert. That failure to trust is what the rebellion consisted in, after all.

So what is Jesus saying in the Gospel Reading when he compares himself to that bronze snake Moses set up on high?

In our disheartened condition, we think that there is nothing for our souls to eat or drink in this life, because God is hidden from us. But, in fact, God has provided what we need to live, whether we see it or not. And what is it we need to live? Jesus himself explains it in the Gospel Reading: what we need is him.

So Jesus is for us what the bronze serpent was for the Israelites: the remedy for what ails us, our sinfulness, our alienation from ourselves and others, our failure to believe in God's love for us, our fatal spiritual sickness.

All we need to do is look at Jesus.

2. Priests' Retirement Foundation Appeal

We are holding the Priests' Retirement Foundation Appeal this weekend. Our retired priests have spent a great part of their lives in the service of others. They have given us compassion and selfless devotion and continue to serve us even after retirement.

Your donation will go towards giving them the care and support they deserve after a lifetime of service. The Sydney Archdiocese will give $2 for every $1 donated which increases the value of your gift considerably.

For parishioners requiring a tax deductible receipt, please add an "R" prominently on the Priests' Retirement Foundation appeal envelope. Thank you.

3. Mass for State School Students

This Sunday we welcome the children from the state schools and their families and catechists at the 10am Mass.

As always we give grateful thanks for the works of the catechists.

A morning tea will be held after Mass. Come join us for a cuppa and meet the Catechist and other parishioners. All welcome to attend

POPE FRANCIS' COLUMN

Pope's Morning Homily: Loving One's Enemy is Unconditional Love in Action

Christian Life Isn't Easy But Possible With God's Grace and Support of the Faithful

Vatican City, September 11, 2014 (Zenit.org) Staff | 340 hits

In his homily this morning at Mass in the chapel of the Santa Marta residence at the Vatican, Pope Francis said that loving one's enemies is the "model of Christian life."

Reflecting on the Gospel reading from St. Luke (6:27-38), in which the Lord tells his disciples, "Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, bless those who curse you, pray for those who mistreat you," the Holy Father said that this is a model of Christian life – of unconditional love in action.

"Do good," he said, "lend without hoping to have back what you have lent – act without interest, and your reward will be great." Pope Francis also recognized that this new way of the Gospel is one by which it is often difficult to live:

"'But Father' one might say, 'I don't feel like behaving that way'. 'Well', one might reply, 'if you don't feel like it, that's your problem, but that's the Christian way.'" This is that way that Jesus teaches us. 'And what can I hope?' [one might ask]. Go on Jesus' way, which is the way of mercy. Be merciful as your father is merciful. Only with a merciful heart can we do all that, which the Lord counsels us to do – all the way. The Christian life is not a navel-gazing one. It is a life in which one gets out of oneself in order to give oneself to others. It is a gift, it is love – and love does not turn in on itself, it is not selfish, but self-giving."

The Lord asks us to be merciful. He asks us not to judge. Often, Pope Francis said, "it seems that we have been named judges of others: engaging in gossip, talking behind people's backs, we judge everyone." The Lord, however tells us not to judge, lest we be judged ourselves. "Do not condemn others," said Pope Francis, "and you will not be condemned." The Lord asks us to forgive, that we might be forgiven. "We say it every day in the Our Father," noted the Holy Father, "forgive us as we forgive others – and if I do not forgive, how can I ask the Father to forgive me?"

"This is the Christian life. 'But Father, this is folly!' one might say. 'Yes', one might answer, 'it is'. We have heard in these days, though, St Paul, who said the same: the foolishness of the Cross of Christ, which has nothing to do with the wisdom of the world. 'But Father, to be Christian is to become some sort of fool?' [one might ask]. 'Yes', [I would say], 'in a certain sense, yes. It means renouncing the cunning of the world in order to do everything that Jesus tells us to do and that, if we do the sums, if we balance the ledger, seems to be against us.'"

The Holy Father went on to explain that the way the Lord teaches us is the way of magnanimity, of generosity, of self-giving without measure. "It was for this," he said, "that Jesus came into the world," not to judge, not to engage in idle gossip, not to pass judgments, but to give and to forgive. "Being Christian isn't easy," said Pope Francis, adding that we can become Christians only by the grace of God, and not by our own strength.

"Here then arises the problem that we all must face daily: 'Lord, give me the grace to become a good Christian, because I cannot do it on my own'. This is something quite frightening at first glance – quite frightening indeed. If, however, we take the Gospel and we read the 6th chapter of St. Luke – and reread it and reread it and reread it – and let us do so – and let us ask the Lord for the grace to understand what it is to be a Christian, to understand the grace He gives to us Christians, as well, because we cannot do it on our own."

OCTOBER, the MONTH OF THE HOLY ROSARY

Soon it will be that time when we are reminded of the importance of uniting our prayers with the Mother of God and conforming ourselves to Christ as revealed in the mysteries of His life. We grow in our appreciation of Christ through meditating on these mysteries.

We do, however, need to be careful that our prayer does not become wordy and mechanical. Pope Paul VI said "Without contemplation, the Rosary is a body without a soul." therosary3.com is a scriptural Rosary. Whether you are already in the habit of praying the Rosary and want to renew the spirit of your prayer, or whether you are new to the Rosary and want to learn how to quieten your mind and heart, therosary3.com will help you enter more deeply into the Mysteries of Christ. Come then, come to a quiet place within ... visit therosary3.com.
