Dear Parishioners,

1. Hey, you!

In the Gospel Reading, there is a squall at sea, and the apostles' boat begins to take on water. They are very afraid, and they wake up Jesus, who is asleep in the back of the boat. He calms the sea. And then he asks his disciples two questions:

Why are you terrified?

Don't you yet have faith?

Why they are terrified? Well, because that boat is filling up with water, the wind is fierce, the waves are high, and there is an excellent chance that everybody in the boat will die by drowning. What is not to fear here?

And why does Jesus ask them if they have faith? The First Reading is from the book of Job. Job certainly had faith—and he lost all his children and his possessions in one day, shortly before he came down with a loathsome skin disease. If having faith won't save a person from the fate of Job, then why wouldn't the disciples fear, even if they had faith?

The solution lies in seeing how Jesus rescues his disciples from shipwreck. He doesn't issue decrees about the weather. He talks directly to the sea. "Be still!" he says to the sea. And notice that in the First Reading this is exactly how God deals with the ocean. Just as Jesus says "you" to the sea, so God says "you" to the ocean: "So far shall you come and no further." For God, for Jesus, even inanimate objects such as the ocean and the sea have an I-Thou relationship with their Lord. Even the sea and the ocean are in direct second-personal relationship with the loving God who made them.

And if this is true of the ocean and the sea, then how much more is it true of each one of us? So faith is not the bare belief that there is a God. Faith is the willingness in trust to say "you" to God, as God says "you" to each one of us.

In this I-Thou relationship with the good and loving Creator of all there is, what is left to fear? Whether we live or die, whether we sorrow or are at ease, we stand in joy in the love of our Lord, and we do not have to be afraid.

2. Greg's Grill

A reminder flyers are available in the gathering space for Greg's Grill, which will be held on 18th July. Please return slip and payment to the parish office by 11th July, to be part of this great community event.

3. Communion

This weekend sees the final group of 47 candidates receive the Sacrament of First Holy Communion. Please keep the children and their families in your prayers as they receive Jesus in the Eucharist for the first time.

Again, I thank the Sacramental team, teachers and choir for their time in preparing the children and church for this sacred celebration.

A reminder to group leaders to return their home tubs to the parish office as soon as possible.

4. Parish Pastoral Council

A reminder the PPC are meeting on Wednesday 24th June at 7.30pm in the presbytery.

5. St Vincent's de Paul Winter Appeal

Next weekend St Vincent's de Paul Five Dock Society will hold its annual winter appeal.

Please remember families struggling and support our team of St Vincent de Paul members.

6. Eucharistic Ministers

Thank you to all those people who have shown interest in becoming Eucharistic Ministers in our parish. I will run a training session on Saturday 27th June at 3.30pm and Tuesday 30th June at 7.00pm in the church. Please contact Elena which date session you will be coming to. The session will run for approximately one hour

7. End of Financial Year

As the 30th June is creeping towards us I remind parishioners looking for a tax deduction that Planned Giving through the envelope system is 80% tax deductible, while supporting the parish and school. To take advantage of the tax deduction donations need to be received by 30th June.

As you can see next years envelopes are available for collection in the gathering space and receipts will be available after 30th June.

Thank you for all your support and for those who would like to join the planned giving envelope system, please fill in a census form or see Elena in the parish office

God Bless
Fr. Greg

POPE'S COLUMN

Pope Francis: Through Faith, Mourning Loss of Loved Ones Can Strengthen Family Bonds

At General Audience, Reflects on Sufferings Endured by Families Following Death

In facing the death of a loved one, "many families show that death does not have the last word."

These were the words of Pope Francis during his weekly General Audience address in St. Peter's Square. The Holy Father continued his catechetical series on the family, reflecting on the sufferings endured by families when they lose a loved one.

"Death is an experience that affects all families, without any exception," he said. "It is a part of life; and yet, when it touches family affections, death is never able to be seen as something natural." Regarding the death of a child, the Pope said that for parents, the experience seems to "contradict the elementary nature of the relationship that gives meaning to the family itself."

The Jesuit Pope recalled parents he meets during Mass at Casa Santa Marta, who show him pictures of their sons or daughters who have passed away.

"Their gaze is full of pain, and death touches them. When it is a child, it touches them deeply. The whole family remains as if paralyzed, speechless."

He also reflected on the experience of children losing a parent, particularly very young children, who do not have the sufficient experience to "give a name" to what has happened.

At times, however, death can have what the Pope described as "accomplices". These accomplices, which include hate, envy, pride, and avarice can turn the experience into something more painful and unjust.

"We think of the absurd 'normality' with which, at certain times and in certain places, events that add to the horror of death are caused by hatred and indifference to other humans. May the Lord free us from becoming accustomed to this!"

Reborn in Hope

Continuing his catechesis, Pope Francis said that despite the pain caused by the "darkness of death", families still have the possibility of protecting the faith and love that "unites us with those we love." Through Christ's Resurrection, he said, death can be prevented "from poisoning our life, to spoil our affections, to make us fall into the darkest void."

The 78-year-old Pontiff said that through faith in the Resurrection, one can be consoled by the fact that "our loved ones are not lost in the darkness of nothingness." By allowing oneself to be sustained in this faith, the experience of mourning can strengthen the bonds within the family.

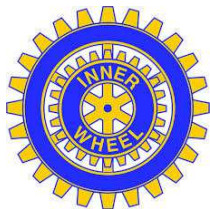

Recalling the Gospel reading of Jesus' raising of the widow's son, which was read prior to his address, the Pope noted Christ's gesture after raising the child from the dead.

"The Gospel says that 'Jesus gave him back to his mother.' And this is our hope! All of our dear ones who have gone away – all of them – the Lord will give them back to us and we will meet with them together," the Pope said.

Concluding his address, Pope Francis said that there is a need for pastors within the Church who can concretely express the meaning of faith to families experiencing the loss of a loved one. He once again reminded the faithful of Christ giving back the child to his widowed mother.

"He will do the same with all of our loved ones and with us when we meet them, when death is finally conquered within us. It is conquered by the cross of Jesus," the Pope said.
