Dear Parishioners,

1. Denying Yourself

In the Gospel Reading, Jesus says that anyone who wants to be his follower has to deny herself. She has to take up her cross daily. But how do you do this?

You might think that denying yourself requires you to give up any desires of your own and just accept whatever God sends. If God wants you to live, you are happy to live. On the other hand if God wants you to die you are happy to die. Anything whatever that happens is fine with you.

But if anything whatever is always fine with you, you will never have a desire that is frustrated. Nothing that happens will ever cause you sorrow; nothing will make you weep. You will be content with anything whatever.

This is to try to deny yourself by having no desires of your own. And if you have no desires, then in fact you have no self at all.

But, then, how could you count as taking up your cross? It isn't possible to crucify a self you don't have.

And so this can't be the kind of self-denial Jesus is calling us to when he tells us to take up our cross daily.

If we take Jesus' prayer in the Garden of Gethsemane as our model, we see a different kind of self-denial.

In that prayer, Jesus asks God to let the cup pass from him. So Jesus has a desire of his own. Anything whatever is definitely not fine with him. He wants to live. He does not want to die.

But Jesus finishes his prayer this way: "not my will but yours be done." He wants God's will to win out over his own if there is a conflict between them. Jesus prefers the frustration of his own will if that is what it takes for him to be in harmony with God.

So here is what Jesus' prayer teaches us. To deny your self requires first having a self to deny. It requires having desires for ordinary good things, for life rather than death. But it also requires trusting the love of God and wanting God's will to win out over your own, when God's will is opposed to yours.

This self-denial is compatible with frustration and sorrow. It allows for tears when you lose the good things you wanted and your desires are denied. But if you crucify your self in this way, then your sorrow and tears come with trust and love for the Lord who carried his cross for you.

POPE'S COLUMN

Pope's Morning Homily: God Brings Peace and Reconciliation in the 'Little Things'

Says God Uses Humble Means to Do Great Works During Mass at Casa Santa Marta

God brings peace and reconciliation to His people in the 'little things' and in accompanying them along the path of life.

This was the central theme of Pope Francis' homily this morning during Mass at Casa Santa Marta.

Dressed in a white and blue chasuble to commemorate the Feast of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the Holy Father reminded the faithful that Christians are called to reflect on this aspect of humility in which God accompanies his people.

Through Jesus Christ, he said, God seeks to make peace and reconcile his people in a "special way": by accompanying them through the little things in life that appear on our path in life.

The 78 year old Pontiff referred to the first reading from the prophet Micah which states: "You, Bethlehem-Ephrathah, too small to be among the clans of Judah, from you shall come forth for me one who is to be ruler in Israel; Whose origin is from of old, from ancient times." God, he said, always uses the most humble things to do great works.

This however, he explained, is not done magically but through an extensive history of salvation, evidenced by today's Gospel from St. Matthew with lists the genealogy of Jesus Christ.

"The Lord did not want to pacify and reconcile with a magic wand: today - boom! - all done!" the Pope exclaimed.

"No. He began to walk with his people and when we heard this passage from the Gospel of Matthew: that is a bit boring no? This one became the father of this, this one became the father of this one, this became the father of this one... It is a list: but it is the path of God! The path of God among men, good and evil, because in this list there are saints and there are criminal sinners as well. There is so much sin here. But God is not frightened: He walks. He walks with his people."

It is in this history, the Pope continued, that God begins to sow in His people the hope in the Messiah.

"The people dreamed of liberation. The people of Israel had this dream because it was promised to them, to be liberated, to be pacified and reconciled. Joseph dreams: Joseph's dream is a bit like the summary of the dream of this whole history of God with his people. But Joseph is not the only one with dreams: God dreams. God our Father has dreams, and dreams beautiful things for his people, for each one of us, because He is a Father and in being a Father, He thinks and dreams of the best for his children."

The Jesuit Pope said that today's Feast of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary is a decisive moment in the history of salvation. A feast, he concluded, that invites us to pray for the grace of unity, peace and reconciliation.

"We continue the celebration now, the remembrance of the Lord in the 'little things': a little piece of bread, a little bit of wine...in the 'little things'. But in this little thing there is everything. There is the dream of God, there is His love, there is His peace, there is His reconciliation, there is Jesus.
